IMPORTANT MATTERS.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 5.—Senator Richardson, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions, made a report against the acceptance of Governor Washburn's gift of "Edgewood" for a Charitable School for Girls, on the ground that it would be bad policy on the part of the State to foster an institution of this character. The Committee, at its session this afternoon, voted to reduce the salaries of all officers and employees of the Wisconsin and Northern Insane Asylum 10 per cent, and also voted to report all charitable appropriations favorably.

The Supreme Court, at Madison, this morning affirmed the decision of the lower court declaring the present system of assessment for taxation under the law passed last winter to be unconstitutional.
The opinion, which was delivered by Chief Justice Ryan, is now in the hands of the Judiciary Committee, who are to frame a new assessment law for presentation this evening to the Legislature.

The Wholesale Liquor House of Mc-Laughlin & Butler, of Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 4.—The announcement of the failure of McLaughlin & Butler, wholesale liquor merchants, was made to-day by the proprietors, who visited the newspaper offices with the view of putting the matter in a favorable light. The firm, although established but little over a year, has done a very heavy business.

This, and the concern manifested by the proprietors concerning newspaper mention leads to the suspicion that the future will prove a disastrous one to creditors.

The crash was precipitated to-day by a demand from the bankers of the concern, who had allowed its account to be largely overdrawn. A formal assignment was made this afternoon. The assets and liabilities are unknown as yet.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Special to the Gazette.
MADISON, Feb. 5.—In the Senate resolutions were passed inquiring into the expediency of erecting buildings for incurable insane.

Providing for new desks in the Senate chamber.
Resolution killed accepting from ex-Governor Washburn the Edgewood property near this city, as a home for indigent boys.

Bills passed were of no general importance.

A lively debate ensued over the bill making ex-Governor Washburn an honorary member for life of the Board of University regents and numerous amendments were introduced tacking on the names of Hon. J. A. Johnson and ex-Governor Lewis, but the original bill was finally ordered engrossed and read the third time.

In the Assembly no business of general importance was transacted, as the time for the introduction of new business expired last night.

In the Senate there have been introduced one hundred and ninety bills; one hundred and five petitions; twenty-five resolutions; and fourteen joint resolutions. In the Assembly, four hundred and eight bills; seventy-nine petitions; thirty resolutions; and fifteen joint petitions. This is about the average amount of business introduced yearly.

A meeting is being held here to-day of the surviving members of the State Constitutional Conventions of 1846, '47, and '48.
A year ago to-day the first reunion of the old constitutionalists was held in Madison, and secretaries David Atwood and Horace A. Tenney were authorized to draw up a memorial record of these fathers of Wisconsin. This they have been diligently employed upon at a considerable expenditure of time and money during the past month, and their interesting report was presented at the meeting to-day. It will be of general interest to learn that of the delegates to these two conventions, many have held positions of honor and trust, among which we note one—Mr. Alexander W. Randall—has been a member of a President's Cabinet. Three J. D. Doty, M. L. Martin and J. H. Twiss —have been delegates from the Territory in Congress. Four—Messrs Orsamus Cole, J. D. Doty, C. H. Larrabee, and J.
A. Barber—have been members of Congress. Two—Messrs Rufus King and Alex W Randall have been ministers to Rome. One—J D Doty—has been Governor of two territories. Three—Messrs S P Harvey, J T Lewis and Alex W Randall—have been Governors of the State.
Two—Samuel W Beall and J T Lewis—have been Lieutenant Governors. Two—L P Harvey and J T Lewis—have been Secretaries of State. Five—Messrs Henry S Baird, A H Smith, E Estabrook, Leo B Smith and William R Smith—have been Attorneys General. One—Mr E Root—has been Supt of Public Instruction. Two—C. Dunn and David Noggle—have been Chief Justices of Territories. Two—Messrs. Edward V. Whitton and Edward Ryan—have been Chief Justices of State Supreme Court. One—Mr Orsamus Cole —has been an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Five—Geo Gale, C H Larabee, David Noggle, A W Randall and Edward V Whitton—have been called to fill important positions of public trust, both in civil and military life. The constitutional veterans are a fine looking body of men, and are giving themselves up to a joyous time. At the meetings this afternoon and evening, there will be speeches on topics of pioneer life by the more prominent of the reunionists. There is goodly attendance. The records show that of the members of the convention of 1846 there are living, forty-six, dead, fifty-two, whereabouts, twenty-six; convention of 1847 and '48, living, thirty, dead, thirty-four, unknown, five.

Sad Accident.

Lincoln County Advocate.
A strange accident, resulting in death, happened in this village last Tuesday night. Mrs. Rottinghaus gave birth to a child about a week ago, and the mother and child were getting along all right.
Some time during Tuesday night it is supposed that Mrs. R. had occasion to rise up in bed for the purpose of reaching something, when she was seized with a sudden fainting spell or weakness and fell out of bed. Her husband, who is an invalid, was unable to assist her, and the little girl was sent to one of the neighbors for assistance.

When she was gotten back into bed it was found that life was extinct. It is the opinion of nearly every one that, in the fall, her neck was broken. It is a sad case as she leaves an invalid husband and seven children, the oldest being a girl of fourteen years and the youngest a babe of only a week.

THE CHEYENNES.

Removal of the Widows and Orphans to Red Cloud—Dreadful Scenes on the Departure—Wild Hog found Wounded in his Lodge—Suicide or Murder by his Wife.

By Telegraph to the New York Herald.
FORT ROBINSON, Neb., January 31.—In accordance with orders from the Secretary of War, Colonel Peter D. Vroom, commanding the post here, has sent thirty-three squaws and twenty-two children, widows and orphans of the late Cheyenne desperadoes, to the Pine Ridge Agency to be turned over to Red Cloud's people. The order to do this, received from General Crook, says it is done in deference to Red Cloud's request. The departure of these helpless and tried people, covered with wounds and gaunt with hunger, was effected quietly and in the most humane manner, under the personal supervision of Colonel Vroom, who provided six wagons for the purpose, with canvas enough to cover them and rations for a five days' journey to the camp of Red Cloud, on White Clay creek, sixty-five miles distant.
AN AFFECTING SCENE.

All passed over quietly until they reached the lower camp, where Colonel Vroom had Wild Hog, Old Crow, Left Hand and other remaining braves, numbering fifteen, in iron. Here the scene became descriptive. Lieutenant W. Dodd, who is in charge of the Indian scouts, has great influence among the Indians, was awaiting the arrival of the train to add the remaining women and children, there of Sioux extraction, when all of a sudden among the Cheyenne women who were not to go there was set up the most hideous and terrific wailing and gesticulation. Aftermost among them, on the little hillside back of a rock, the camp heaping impressions, was the Heaticlike form of Wild Hog's wife, the sister of American Horse. With lean and shriveled arms, her rags flaunting in the wind, stood this female demon, by her side half a dozen more, presenting a picture hardly paralleled in modern times.
Lieutenant Dodd immediately ordered a fall and rigid search into the secrets of the squalid lodges occupied by the desolate and grievous inmates. First and foremost the arch witch was looked to, and No Flesh, a friendly Sioux Indian scout, was asked to go and disarm her. Striking her breast violently with both hands and exhibiting a perfectly diabolical attitude, it was discovered when she was approached that in one hand she held a half of a sharp pointed scalp and in the other a fork, of which only the middle prong, sharpened like a miniature stiletto remained. Disarmed, she was taken to a tent near by, where it was learned she had endeavored, a short time previous, to kill one of her children and had stamped on all the others, some of whom said they were afraid of their lives.

SUICIDE OF WILD HOG.

After the wife was taken care of some of the soldiers looked after "Wild Hog," who was found lying in his lodge bathed in blood and insensible. A closer inspection showed several stab wounds from a sharp instrument near the sternum and below the region of the heart. These are believed, at this writing, to be self-inflicted, but the half blade of a scalper taken from the wife of "Wild Hog" would indicate that this terrible woman in a secret moment had dealt the death blow to her warrior chief rather than see him taken in Leavenworth. She has been taken to the hospital, and her wounds are being treated.
The Indian friends would be sure to bring him to the halter, which is the only thing the Indians fear.

A VISIT TO THE SCENE.

I visited, at 10 o'clock to-night, in company with Lieutenant Dodd, the scene of this tragedy. The oldest daughter of Wild Hog lay asleep. She is one of the three survivors from the pit where the fighting Cheyennes made their last stand, and where she was shot through the neck. Lying head to head with her was the wounded chief. The girl was sleeping like a besootted drunkard, with her face lying close to the burning logs in the grate, and the filthy habitation. Wild Hog, wounded unto death, breathed heavily and moaned with pain, though under the influence of morphia, administered to him by Dr. Pettys. Corporal Lewis gave him another pill, with some words kindly spoken in an Indian dialect. The mother, wild and terrified, sat at the portal of the lodge, one old squaw under the right eye being the most prominent sign on her aged face, which looked out of the lodge flap.
Suddenly the wounded girl, about 13 or 14 years old, awoke with a shrill cry of pain, and seeing the soldiers through the smoke of the lodge fire, she shrieked hysterically and acted as though she thought she was again under the murderous rain of bullets from which her people had suffered so much. She was finally quieted and your correspondent withdrew from the heartrending scene.

The Schoolboy at Home.

For the next three weeks or a month he will be with us, and he will be practically master of the domestic situation. He may be welcome or unwelcome; we may think his habits too long or too short; we may accept him as we do a flash of winter sunshine, or as a necessary evil, to be got rid of at the first opportunity. Of his presence it is as little possible to doubt as of the reality of Christmas boxes or Christmas birds.
We know him by the echo of his hurried rush up stairs and down passages; by the distant crash of broken glass; by the perpetual ringing of doors by the sound of popular airs whistled with much perseverance and little harmony; by a variety of strange noises imitative of a hundred different things—from the melody of the birds of the air, or the beasts of the field, down to the "clomp" of the cork as it is drawn from the bottle. In some respects he may be regarded as a study of almost perfect motion. For the space of twenty minutes perhaps he will devote himself to amusing or illustrating literature, buried in an armchair or sprawling on the sofa, apparently absorbed in the study of the attractive volume. Presently the first beginnings of a proxiromy of bodily restlessness declare themselves. The fit becomes more acute. He changes and re-changes his position, now he sits on his limbs at full length, now he suddenly draws them in, then jumps up suddenly as it rung, walks up to the windows, whistles, hums, sings, shouts, and with a series of skips and bounds, makes his exit from the room. He has seen a cat, and it is as if you had whispered in the ear of a fox terrier the fiercely inspiring dissyllable "pussy." He recoils that he has in his playbox a catapult, darts up stairs, brings down the little implement, and before he has concluded his morning's sport will have probably accumulated upon his fond father a little heap of prospective damages.

Republicanism in Georgia.

From the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle (Dem.), January 29th.
The session of the Independent movement in the Seventh and Ninth Districts at the last Congressional election and the fourth between Governor Colquhoun and Senator Hill seem to have raised the spirits of the Georgia Republicans, and they are talking of reorganizing their party, which was virtually disbanded in 1872. The Atlanta Republican, the organ, and the only one, of the party in the State, says that a State convention will be held shortly, and a new State Committee selected "and the work of reorganization undertaken in earnest." It expresses the opinion that the present "schism in the ranks of the Georgia Democracy" affords an opportunity for Republican success that should not be neglected. It believes the Republicans are entitled to at least three Congressmen from Georgia, and that they can be elected in 1880. When this convention is held we will be better able to judge of the strength likely to be exhibited by the Republicans in the next campaign. If they rely for success upon any "schism" in the Democratic party to be created by the Hill-Colquhoun quarrel, they will be greatly disappointed. But if they can reform their disaffected ranks so as to take advantage of the Independent movement, which will spread all over the State next year, they may not only be able to elect three Congressmen, but a Governor as well. We do not believe, however, that the Republican party of Georgia is yet capable of vitalization.

Quickened the Circulation.

Don't let the blood stagnate in your veins. You can prevent it doing so by increasing its volume and purity, by stimulating the digestive organs, and encouraging assimilation, with that matchless vitalizing agent, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
People not afflicted with any organic or inorganic disease, grow weak and haggard simply because their blood is thin, watery, deficient in nourishing properties and so meager in quantity that the extremities are very imperfectly supplied with it, and the superficial circulation extremely feeble. Hence the bloodless appearance of the countenance. But when the Bitters are used to enrich and quicken the blood, the rosy hue of health returns to the cheek, the frame acquires substance as well as vigor, the appetite improves, and no digestive qualms interfere either with its gratification or the subsequent tranquility of the stomach. feb3deedwlv

Itching Piles.

The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum, the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue, very serious results may follow. Dr.
Swayne's All Healing Ointment is a pleasant sure cure.

WHAT THE COUNTRY NEEDS.

Address by George William Curtis on "Civil Service Reform—Morality and Politics to be Brought Nearer Together—What Officeholders Say."

New York Times: A large audience was present last evening, in the Anthon Memorial Church, to hear an address by Mr. George William Curtis, on the subject of "Civil Service Reform." After some remarks by Rev. J. H. Norton and Rev. Sigurd Olson, Mr. Curtis was introduced, and said that when asked to read a paper touching upon both religion and politics he had selected our civil service system as illustrating how religion might be perverted in politics. It was a moral deterioration of political character, arising from the public and not from the Government. This statement was a trenchant appeal to public opinion, for upon the latter depended the necessity of bringing morality and politics nearer together. The principle of civil service was not a new one. Bolingbroke described it 170 years ago as a series of great employments for great numbers. At a later period in our own country, during the Jacksonian campaign, a certain Mr. Samuel Swanton, upon hearing of Mr. Jackson's election, hurried to Washington for the purpose of obtaining a position under the Government. Shortly after his arrival he wrote a letter to a friend, containing the following: "The great gods are new men; the old gods are spayed and broken down, and I'm darned if I can carry the weight." "This scramble for plunder," Mr. Curtis continued, "this notorious abuse which England has discarded is now known as the AMERICAN SYSTEM."

THE AMERICAN SYSTEM.

It is a system too contemptible, too incredible for a great nation like our own, but it is vast and thoroughgoing, organized, and accends in regular gradations until it reaches the Government itself. It is a hierarchy which holds us in a firm grasp, but we have no alternative; our choice lies between a horse lame in two legs, or a horse lame in three. A few days ago we read in the newspapers of a powerful Senator, who represents our own State, challenging the Executive of the nation in respect to certain Custom-house appointments; does not this seem irregular and incredible? There is not a Midshipman in the Navy, nor a Lieutenant in the Army who is not proud of his gold lace and brass buttons; is our civil service less honorable than the army or navy? Within three or four days the joint committee on Indian affairs reported in favor of transferring the management of the Indian Bureau to the army, and the reason of this is that the honor of army men is indisputable, and further the committee holds—setting aside all questions of State—that in tenure of office, honesty is the best policy. The civil service agents are appointed by the party in power, hold a short term of office and have not the same inducements as would army men, to manage the affairs of the department faithfully and honestly. But nevertheless the army and navy are faithful to their trust, why not a clerk in the postoffice as well?

OFFICE-HOLDERS SAY.

"We must oppose the election of so and so, for it will take the bread out of our mouths," this creating a selfish interest in politics. Young men born with the generous ambition of our race, find that an entrance into political life is something which must be bought. Why is it says the voter that the best men refrain from taking active part in politics, no wonder, because the best men hold gold. That, however, is not the reason; it is because political parties set a price which honorable men will not pay. The system which excludes them from political affairs is a bad and impure struggle, and an unprincipled and successful party is often allowed to force its way into the Capitol.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1904.

MILTON.
—A civil suit involving an action to recover a debt and a garnishee process, in which Thomas Kiley was the plaintiff and one Grannan the defendant, and the St. Paul Railroad Company garnishee defendant, was on the docket before Justice Clarke Monday afternoon. Messrs. Dunwiddie for the plaintiff and Smith for the defendant. The parties joined issue and took an adjournment of one week by mutual agreement.

—Parties from Lima had a suit on trial before Justice Weaver late Monday evening, which was sent to him by Justice Richmond, of Lima, on a change of venue. The defendant in that suit swore out a warrant for the arrest of the plaintiff in the above action, before Justice Clarke at midnight, which was set for trial on yesterday. The interested parties in these actions are bound to have satisfaction if they are obliged to set up all night to get it.

ROCK.
—Mr. A. C. Powers is quite seriously ill.

—There was quite a pleasant surprise party at the residence of Mr. Lyman Antislid on last Thursday evening. Also a young people's party at Mr. Albert Antislid's Saturday evening.

—A donation will be given Rev. T. Roe, at the Baptist church on Thursday evening.

—A pleasant matrimonial event occurred at the residence of Mr. Rutus Washburn, in the town of Beloit, on Tuesday evening, January 23, the occasion being the marriage of his eldest daughter, Miss Lizzie L. Washburn to Mr. J. C. P. Waite. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. T. Roe, about forty guests being present. Both parties are well and favorably known in this community. May they, by gentle breezes wafted, sail pleasantly along the voyage of life.

ALBION.
—H. M. Sheldon is very sick with erysipelas of the eyes and face. Both eyes are so badly swollen as to be entirely closed and he is getting quite deaf.

—Thursday p. m., of last week, about thirty of W. W. Cornwall's select school made a visit to Prof. Rumelins for the purpose of seeing the specimens in natural history collected by his son, A. L. Kumlins while acting as naturalist for the Howgate Expedition. They report a splendid time.

—Mrs J. W. Stillman is on the sick list.

—Mrs O. M. Palmer is afflicted with erysipelas of the face, but as yet not so severe as to be alarming.

—We have several cases spoken of in the previous issue of Elder F. E. Babcock. For seventeen months he has been a patient sufferer, never uttering a complaining word although at times his suffering was intense. He often wished that death would come to his release as life under existing circumstances was far from being enjoyable. On Wednesday, p. m., Jan. 29, the long expected messenger arrived. The agony but to the last his faith in God remained unshaken. The icy hand of death to him brought no terror, but was welcomed as a relief from pain and suffering. When his voice was scarcely audible he said to one of those standing by his bedside, "God give me the victory." The exact cause of his suffering has been something of a mystery, his physicians not being able to determine the exact nature of his disease. A post mortem examination held by Dr. Burdick, Head and Judd unveiled the mystery, showing the malady to be cancer of the left kidney. The diseased kidney weighed 1 1/2 pounds, the healthy one six ounces. The funeral services were held Sabbath p. m., January 31, at the S. D. B. church, from whence he was removed to Evergreen Cemetery for interment. He leaves a loving and devoted wife, and an only son, beside a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. A large number were in attendance at the funeral service. The bereaved family are entitled to the sympathy of the whole community.

SHOPIERE.
—The regular meeting of the Blue and Red Ribbon Temperance Society of Shopiere, took place in the Congregational chapel, Tuesday evening, January 26th. As previously announced, the question for discussion was,

Resolved, That confirmed drunkenness be made a legal bar to marriage.

The question was opened by Rev. Mr. Webb, and ably handled. Mr. Wilson was called upon to take the negative, and did so for argument sake; as he said the speaker on the affirmative had spoken his sentiments. He spoke for some time, and made many good points. The question was given to the ladies for discussion. Result—A man can not get married if he drink, or uses tobacco. Ladies, go west and take up housekeeping.

—Hon. S. C. Carr and wife left on Tuesday, in company with E. Goodrich and wife, for Davis Junction, Illinois, in response to an invitation from Hon. Jeremiah Davis and wife to attend the wedding ceremonies of his daughter Miss Alice Davis, on Thursday, at their home near Davis Junction, Illinois.

—The friends of Rev. Mr. Loomis will make him a donation visit at Morgan's hall on Thursday afternoon and evening of this week. The young people are arranging various devices, such as a post office, and fish pond &c., to draw the nickels from the pockets of the unwary. Support will be given by the ladies at 25 cents a ticket. A grand good time may be expected and everybody and their friends are invited.

—There seems to be a general distemper going the rounds among young and old arising from colds and pulmonary complaints generally. Every third person has their throat bandaged, and some twenty of the school children have been sick with it to a greater or less degree.

—The Georgians, a troupe of thirteen colored musicians and minstrels, held forth here to a fair sized audience on Friday evening last, after which they succumbed to the inevitable, the hard times, and bustled, disbanding and scattering. They have been out six weeks but found Jordan a hard road to travel—too many mouths to feed for the times.

Possessed by Devils.
Pall Mall Gazette.
Rome, Jan. 3.—In a little village away up in the Province of Udine, on the borders of Italia Irredenta, there is a great alarm and commotion; for the young girls of the place, one after another, are showing outward and visible signs of being possessed by a devil. According to all accounts, there are now about thirty young women in this unhappy condition. Why the evil one should have selected so obscure a village for his operations does not seem quite clear. Indeed, the blame is not laid on him, but on the priests. Inquiries made by the authorities have elicited the fact that in Lent last year a series of discourses was delivered by a priest, in which he described at great length and with much detail the pains of Hell, thereby terrifying weak young women that they were already lost and that the Devil had entered into them. The priests, who at first were rather pleased with the impression their brother made, have since found that though they had raised the spirit, they had no power to lay it again. Holy water produced no effect, the most searching exorcisms failed, and even such practical measures as healing the person affected have been found of no use.

While the fit of madness is on the "possessed" crowd like cocks, or mow like cats, or bark and howl like dogs and wolves. What is worse, they shock their neighbors by blasphemous and obscene language, using especially violent against the priests, cursing them for their inability to relieve their suffering by casting out the devil. The Perfect of the province has sent a commissioner to Verzegnis, the name of the village, to see what can be done to stop the progress of this madness; for, by force of example and terror, it threatens to spread. The people of the district of the village is kept the following brands of flour: Choice Patent Sun, Best Minnesota Wheat Flour, and Milled Flour.

Made without the use of Mill Stone; also all kinds of feed; Good Flour exchanged for Good Wheat; Cash paid for Wheat.

BRIEFLETS.

—Longer days.
—Shorter fuel bills.
—The sparrows might as well come home again.
—The Temple of Honor dance last night was a success.
—Even this weather don't keep the chronic ones from grumbling.
—The Endowment Rank of the Knights of Pythias meets this evening.
—Dickerson is reported as having a sore throat. A hemp poultice would cure it.
—One of Janesville's prominent young ladies is distributing her "P. P. C." cards.
—A number have gone from this city to attend Bishop Henn's golden jubilee in Milwaukee.
—Low Benedict and fellow troubadours will give mirthful minstrelsy at the Opera house to-night.
—Janesville City Lodge, No. 90, I. O. O. F., added two more members last evening to its already large number.
—The Milwaukee papers speak in high terms of Low Benedict's minstrel troupe. Be sure and see them to-night.
—The flag on the East Side Engine House was at half-mast, to-day indicative of sorrow at Marshal Keating's death.
—Why does a bar-tender, as he slips on his white apron, resemble a lawyer? Because he makes up a counter-suit. See?
—The Musical Club will meet at Miss Battle's rooms this evening. The public may consider themselves specially invited. A good bill-of-fare has been arranged.
—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Croft died yesterday of congestion of the lungs. The funeral will be held at the house to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.
—Rev. T. C. Wilson, of Footville, was in the city to-day, getting medical treatment for his little girl, who is suffering from a broken shoulder, caused by a tip-over while sliding down hill.
—We are glad to learn that checks are among the features of the new spring calicos. If the checks are large enough about half a dozen will do us, provided there is money in the bank to meet them.
—The Norwegian doctor has been heard from again. At last accounts he was in Lima Center, telling the boys how he lost his wealth in Janesville. He is still in a badly battered and shattered condition.
—One of the jurymen in the horse suit before Justice Balch, woke up yesterday morning with a terrible headache, and had a long discussion with his wife as to whether it was he or the horse that was over-driven.
—James Foley, who was arrested yesterday for using vile language to Mr. Hodgdon, at the depot, and shaking a chunk of coal at him, was brought before Justice Prichard this morning, and put under bonds of $100 to keep the peace.
—The latest from the so-called Georgia Minstrel is that they "busted" again. This time the explosion took place at Milton Junction. They have made enough busts in six weeks so that they are now going to Milwaukee to start a show of staturary.
—Mayor Norcross went to Milton this afternoon to attend to the legal wants of a school teacher who is charged with having slapped a young lady, or words to that effect. The case is a badly tangled one, and attorney Norcross is a good one to help unravel it.
—It is estimated that the horse suit before Justice Balch has cost the county about $150. If the money could only have been used to buy another horse with, it wouldn't be so bad, but $150 and no verdict, necessitates the retrial of the case, which will be again held next Saturday.
—The candidates for the vacant City Marshalship began to show up this morning. This may seem to be untimely haste, but then it's so the world over. An office holder cannot sneeze without a dozen or more sending in their applications for the position in case his cold should prove fatal.
—A petition was circulated to-day for the appointment of Alex. Russell as City Marshal. It received a large number of signatures of leading business and professional men. Alex. is able-bodied, and more able-bodied than most of those who go better armed than he, and it is evident that many think he's the man for the place.
—The sensation didn't work. The enterprising news-gatherer who tried to make the public believe that a man named Lawrence, living at Shopiere, was missing, and had probably been drowned, or cut his throat, or some other horrible thing, didn't stir up any excitement at all, and had the grim satisfaction of announcing in the following issue that the thing wasn't so. Lawrence is still in the flesh.
—The Temple of Honor cleared $22 by its social last night, which is to apply toward paying for the grand piano, which will just about buy one leg. The Temple feel encouraged though, as every little helps, and they have money from other sources, so that they are nowhere near bankruptcy and don't propose to be. The next party will be a dedicatory one to the new music box.
—The Round Table will meet Saturday night to consider "Othello." O. H. Fetters, Esq., will give a study of the plot. Rev. H. Fayille will treat of the spirit of Shakespeare's tragedies. Miss Angie King will give select passages. J. O. Metcalf, Esq., will deal with "Iago," and Miss Carrie Zentlinger with "Desdemona." Prof. Van Cleave will speak of the inadequacies of the stage to represent Shakespeare's tragedies.
—The members of Engine Company, No. 2 will meet this evening at 7 o'clock to take appropriate action concerning the death of Marshal Keating, who was a member of that Company from 1858 until he resigned the Foremanship to accept the position of City Marshal, since which time he has been an honorary member. There will also be a general meeting of the Fire Department at 7:30 o'clock, this evening for a like purpose.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 22 degrees above zero, and at 2 o'clock this afternoon at 30 degrees above. Clear. One year ago to-day at corresponding hours the thermometer stood at 26 and 45 degrees above.

MARSHAL KEATING'S DEATH.

This morning at twenty minutes past six o'clock, Michael H. Keating, the City Marshal of Janesville, breathed his last. The sad end was not a surprise, although his illness had been of but twelve days' duration, and yet the realization of the stern fact that death had really come fell, as it always does, like an unexpected and heavy blow. About two weeks ago the Marshal was called to Chicago for a day or two on business, and there contracted a severe cold so that on his return home he felt almost unable to leave the house, but he was needed as a witness in a case on trial in Rockford, and he went thither, only to return in a still worse condition to seek the bed from which he never rose, the severe cold rapidly taking the form of congestion of the lungs. He suffered greatly, and yet patiently, and for twenty-four hours preceding his death fought most bravely the pain and disease, trusting, in spite of the fears of friends, that he should gain the victory, but though aided as he was by skillful medical treatment and most careful nursing, death overcame him.

Michael Keating was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia, October 1, 1837, and was consequently in his forty-first year. His youthful days were spent in Boston where he was engaged in a printing office for some time. Twenty-two years ago last September he removed with his father's family to this city, where they took up their residence. For five or six years he was engaged in blacksmithing, and at the end of that time entered the employ of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company, and for about four years served as conductor. He then removed to Chicago and for four years acted as foreman in John H. Walsh & Co.'s great news depot. Returning to Janesville he engaged in the grocery business, and after being thus employed for four or five years, he on the 11th day of June, 1874, was given the City Marshalship, which position he filled very acceptably up to the time of his death.

Mr. Keating's aged father is still a resident of this city. His sister, Mrs. House of Baraboo, has been with him during his illness. His only brother, Thomas Keating, resides at Boone, Iowa, and has been notified by telegraph. He leaves a family, consisting of a wife and four children, two boys aged sixteen and fourteen years respectively, and two girls of the ages of twelve and seven years.

The funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church next Friday afternoon at three o'clock.

By the death of Marshal Keating, the city loses a good citizen and a most efficient and capable officer. In his social converse he was always genial and gentlemanly, and in his family life he proved himself to be a filial son, a true husband and a loving father. As an officer he was ever attentive to the work that was set before him, and much of the ordinariness which has characterized the record of Janesville, is due to his efficiency. As a detective he showed more than ordinary enterprise and shrewdness, and few offenders could cover up their traces so successfully as to elude his search. Many there are to-day who say "it will be hard to find his like," and the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community will go out toward those who have been so sorely afflicted by his sudden death.

"BOHEMIAN OATS."

Several farmers in Monroe county have got into trouble about the Bohemian oats, a suit concerning which has lately been decided in this city. E. Hanchett, Wm. H. Dinehart and Roswell Smith, all well-to-do farmers, have been arrested, charged in connection with George Beatty, with having obtained money under false pretences. They have been engaged in raising and selling this variety of oats, and it is said they have sold $600 worth in Dane county. Mr. Hanchett is President of the Monroe Agricultural Society, and the others are equally prominent and respectable, and the result of the trial will be watched for with interest.

January 22d—Mrs. John P. Hoyt, Michigan, 57 years.

A SILVER WEDDING.

1854-1879.
A very pleasant and enjoyable affair took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lyke, in the town of La Prairie, about three miles from this city. It was the anniversary of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Lyke and they were taken completely by surprise. The neighbors and friends from all over the county came pouring into the house about two o'clock, bringing with them many rich and beautiful mementoes of their affection and esteem. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Nowlan, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Paul, Mr. and Mrs. John Austin, with their newly married daughter the wife of Mr. Benjamin C. Lyke, Mr. McGlauchlin and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zader, Mr. and Mrs. Van Valen, Mr. and Mrs. S. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Huguenin, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cheney and Miss Clara Cheney. Although the weather was somewhat unpropitious, it did not seem to throw the least damper upon the crowd assembled.
After an hour or two spent in talking over old times and renewing old friendships, Rev. Mr. Sawin called the company to order, and made a few brief remarks in behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Lyke. He spoke of the happy and pleasant journey they had made together for a quarter of a century, of the changes they had witnessed in this part of the country where they had so long lived, and the value of friendships which time and circumstances could not mar, but only strengthen, and he thanked the friends for this manifestation of this love, more precious by far than silver or gold. He hoped that all those who had not yet reached their silver wedding, might come to it as happily as they whose anniversary they were celebrating, and those who had passed the silver might go on to the golden, and those who had reached their golden might pass on to still in happiness and joy and that at the last, all might come and sit down at the heavenly marriage supper, crowned with the peace and glory of a joyous and useful earthly life.

Then refreshments were announced, and waited on by the fair daughters of the household, the friends were amply served with a rich collation.

Among the presents were two beautiful cake baskets, a silver pickle caster, silver creamer, set of silver knives, a pile of silver dollars, a napkin ring, spoons, and other things of value. After the refreshments the guests departed, leaving behind them glad wishes, merry hearts and as happy a household as there is in Rock county.

THE LEW BENEDICT TROUBADOURS.

There was another night of fun at the Opera House last evening. A large audience witnessed the performances of Lew Benedict's Troubadour minstrels, and all were highly delighted. The troupe has taken a new departure in the minstrel business. It is not of the common barabazook order. Part first proved very entertaining. A grand drawing room scene was presented, with elegant piano, and furniture to match; cages of exquisite singing birds. This is a party of ladies and gentlemen, and two "colored" gents are brought in as "end-men." The performance begins with good results. The other parts of the entertainment differ from the old and worn out style. Alphonso in his dancing barrel feat is wonderful. Lew Benedict's stump speech, to suit the times, was side-splitting. Tommy Neil, in his North of Ireland oddities, is too much to stand. The twenty minutes with the great musical artists, Miss Sallie Adams and Julie Keen were well spent. Miss Clara Howard and Miss Jennie Wade were good in songs and comedies. The "Irish Judge" was rich, with Tommy Neil as his honor. —Madison Democrat.

It Stopped the Cough!
From the Hon. James Ross, Grand Lecturer I. O. G. T. W.

I take great pleasure in giving testimony to the efficacy of Hale's Cough Cordial in easily curing a persistent cough and catarrh. For a month while engaged nightly in public speaking, I had suffered with an annoying cough which stubbornly resisted the various cough remedies that I had taken. Through the advice of friends I fortunately gave Hale's Cough Cordial a trial, when my coughing ceased at once, and the following day it had done its work completely and I felt all right. The first dose went directly to the cold spot in the lungs, and in the midst of a general warmth and perspiration the stubborn cough seemed to dissolve. In gratitude and esteem, I am, Yours truly, James Ross.

Mrs. Sarah A. Elliott,
Autographs of "Mrs. Elliott's Household," Oxford, N. C., writes: I was among the first that used the "London Hair Color Restorer" in this section, and recommended it to M. A. & C. A. Santos, Norfolk, Va., as the most beautiful hair dresser and preserver I had ever seen. I was advised by an eminent physician to use it. Since doing so, it has proved so satisfactory in restoring and beautifying my hair, as well as strengthening my eyesight, that I have recommended it to the druggists here in Oxford, Raleigh, and a great many of my friends, and believe I have from what others say, caused it to have a wide and extended sale, and deservedly so, as it certainly is the most cleanly and effective hair restorer now before the American people. The "London Hair Color Restorer" can be obtained at all the leading druggists at 75 cents a bottle, or $4 for six bottles. jylw
